Policy Statement

Alzheimer's WA will offer a wide range of evidence-based courses, workshops, accredited and non-accredited training with the aim of providing education to both people living with dementia, their carers and families and workers who provide support to people living with dementia.

Underpinning Principles/Guidelines

Education and Training Access and Equity

Alzheimer's WA recognises the principle of access and equity to ensure all people have access to our training services, irrespective of their age, gender, race, disability, social or educational backgrounds.

No-one will be discriminated against and all participants will be treated fairly.

Education Services Continuous Improvement

Alzheimer's WA endorses the principles of continuous improvement, to provide the most effective, relevant and practical training it can to its participants. Alzheimer's WA will review its education in relation to contemporary research and current best practice.

Education Services Skills Recognition

Alzheimer's WA recognises the concept of skills recognition for its training participants as described by the Australian National Training Authority and the Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA)

When seeking recognition of relevant units of ASQA competency training, participants be encouraged to review their experiences and existing skills.

Alzheimer's WA recognises the value of skilled employees and is committed to their continual skills enhancement.
